

Angel Ference named Miss Lakeland

By Diane Bellerive
Staff Writer

Wearing a shimmering white dress, looking poised, pretty and relaxed, Elk Point's Angel Ference was declared the choice of the judges for the title of Miss Lakeland 1989.

Taneen Fox was selected by the judges as first runner-up with Cindy Payne as second runner-up. Miss Congeniality, which was chosen by the contestants themselves was, Taneen Fox.

The two-and-a-half hour pageant held at the St. Paul Recreation Center Saturday afternoon kept the 500 or more spectators guessing as to which girls would be chosen as each contestant showed poise, speaking ability and talent. All were winners and as hosts Jim Olmstead and Cathy Mistol introduced the girls, one could see the choice for the title would be difficult.

The 11 contestants had a busy past couple of months, beginning on April 23 when the contestants first met with the pageant coordinators. In May they met at Westbrook Hair Gallery to have their hair styled and on May 6th the girls modeled at their first fashion show at Saans. On May 12th the girls attended a photo session at Shutterbee Photography and modelled at Westbrook Mall. On June 4th, the girls met with the judges during a luncheon held at John Boy's. During Exhibit the girls made paper flowers at a booth which were sold.

Judges were: Donna Dahmer, Larry Langager, Donna Desjardins, Frank Large and Laurie Assheton-Smith who volunteered their time in order to pick the new ambassador of the Lakeland.

The girls were judged on public speaking, talent, the ability to give an impromptu talk, evening gowns, and on their personality. The girls spoke on subjects such as drug abuse, safe driving, where they will be in the future and other varied topics. During the talent portion, a variety of talents were shown, from piano playing, reading of poetry, to cultural dancing.

Our congratulations to all who participated and to those who organized the pageant and help make it a wonderful success.

Loveliest Of Them All ...

Newly crowned Miss Lakeland, Angel Ference of Elk Point, is greeted with a roar of applause from the large audience as she begins her triumphant march down the runway at the 1989 Miss Lakeland Pageant.

Rainfall disrupts events

Last week's rainfall was welcome to the farmers, but sent event organizers into a spin of cancelling, moving and rescheduling.

Wednesday's planned barbecue for Elks, OORP and their families was moved from the Elks Wilderness Campground to the drier environment of the Elks Hall, while Friday evening's Chamber of Commerce Farmers Day Barbecue scheduled to be held at the Golf Club was cancelled when skies failed to clear. Hopefully, the would-be guests of honor were equally happy with the liquid refreshments for their crops as they would have been with a steak dinner for themselves.

The Class of 1990's fundraising

Slowpitch Tournament was also cancelled.

Elk Point Golf and Country Club Men's Open Tournament, originally scheduled to be a two-day event, shrunk to one day due to the rainfall, but attracted a good crowd of 49 golfers who enjoyed Sunday's sunny skies on the well-watered course.

Chamber set for summer

Plans for a promotional brochure, along with Canada Day involvement at the Pancake Breakfast and stage program, were discussed at last week's regular meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce.

A prototype for the brochure, which had been approved by the Elk Point Tourism Action Plan Committee, was shown to the members, who gave input into the type of photographs which would best illustrate Elk Point's tourist attractions. It was felt that, as our logo is 'Gateway to the Lakeland,' a lake scene should have front cover prominence. Other photographs should include the museum, the mural, and the cairns or archaeological diggings at the Fort George-Buckingham House site.

Content of the brochure was also discussed, and a suggestion made that the beautiful surroundings and facilities at Whitney Lake Park should be highlighted.

The Chamber agreed to put in the 25 percent local contribution required to produce the brochures under the funding agreement with the Tourism Action Plan. Ten thousand brochures will be printed, for distribution at the Tourist Information Centre and through the Lakeland Tourist Association.

Larry Demchuk reported on plans for the Canada Day Pancake Breakfast. Supplies have been ordered and an extra grill arranged for. More volunteer workers would be welcomed.

Several local young people who have had outstanding achievements this year in a variety of fields of endeavor will be presented with plaques by the Chamber at the Canada Day stage program.

Linda Ference visited Chamber to report excellent response to donations toward the Miss Lakeland Pageant. Almost $600 in cash to be put toward a major prize for the winner and smaller gifts for the runners-up, and a number of gift certificates were collected.

Allan Frankiw reported that signage indicating the location of the Fort George Museum and the Elk Point Historical Mural is being ordered. Westmin Resources has donated $200 toward this project, but if the cost of signs is absorbed by Alberta Transportation, the funds will go toward picnic tables for the mural park or Rec Land picnic area.

Elementary School Art Show...

The artwork of Wayne Hymanyk's Grade 3 to 6 art students is on display at Elk Point Public Library this week. Almost 90 exhibits, from popular cartoon figures to exquisite landscapes, and from carving to collages, were enjoyed by a good number of visitors to Monday's opening.

Car show PTA tonight Saturday

The recently formed Elk Point Auto Club is hoping that at least fifty vintage, collector, modified and project vehicles will be on hand this Saturday, for Car Show '89, going from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the A. G. Ross Arena.

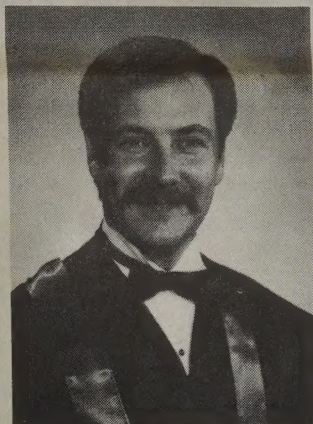

Visitors to the show will vote for their favorite vehicles, with the winners receiving trophies donated by the Club.

Jim Andrishak is the Car Club's President, with Ken Astill as Vice President and Darlene Kachmar as Secretary-Treasurer.

Crop report

Friday's 22 mm rainfall, added to showers earlier in the week yielding between 10 and 37 mm in various areas, have given crops in the Elk Point district good growth prospects, and have enhanced the germination of later seeded crops. Seeding is nearing completion, with only 5 percent of oats, barley and canola left to seed. Fall seeded rye crops are rated fair, with an approximate 80 percent survival rate.

Elk Point Fun with summer play program

Previous summer play programs have been successful and we feel that this year's program can be too. Unfortunately, registration has not been coming in very well and we have had some complaints about the costs of the program. Because of these problems, we feel that there are a few things that we need to clarify.

The summer play program is funded entirely by incoming money from enrollment fees. We are attempting to keep these fees minimal, however, enrollment fees must cover transportation and admission costs as well as costs for craft supplies and some snacks (for those days parents are not scheduled to bring a snack). The registration costs for the summer play programs are $15.00 for Club 3/4, and $20.00 for both groups of the Fun In The Sun program. A breakdown of these costs can be used to see how reasonable these fees are.

Club 3/4 - $0.63/day
Fun In The Sun Group A (5-8) - $0.50/day
Fun In The Sun Group B (9-12) - $1.25/day

We have decided that a family rate would not be feasible for our program this year. Because we have changed the format of the program and our program is self-supporting, a family rate would not leave us with sufficient funds to carry out our program. The difference from last year is that this year we plan to take the children on more field trips, especially the 9-12 year olds. This will raise our costs because of transportation and admissions.

Costs for each of the groups vary due to differences in the number of times per week each group will come and differences in field trip activities. Club 3/4 and Fun In The Sun Group A will not go on as many out of town field trips as Group B. Last year we found that the 9-12 year olds were often bored with some of the games, songs, and crafts that were done since the 5-8 year old and 9-12 year old groups were combined. We plan to alleviate this problem by splitting the groups and taking the 9-12 year olds on further trips out of town. Examples of field trip activities are such things as going bowling and swimming, visiting the Barr Colony Museum in Lloydminster, and the Frog Lake Historical or Fort George sites.

We would also like to bring to your attention that our program incorporates both the Library Reading Program and the AADAC Drama Fun Program.

We hope that by providing this information we have answered any questions and cleared up any misunderstandings that may have existed. We are looking forward to registering your children in our program for summer fun!

Deadline for registration is June 23, 1989!

Phenomenal response

The response of local businesses to last week's fundraising campaign for the Miss Lakeland Pageant was truly outstanding. Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, in support of their sponsorship of Angel Ference, encouraged their members to contribute toward the prizes Miss Lakeland and her fellow contestants would receive. They hoped for enough cash donations to buy a nice gift, and maybe some gift certificates...

They got those, and more. Cash contributions were very generous, and the total climbed and climbed, finally reaching a total of $580—enough to buy a handsome color television for Miss Lakeland, and major prizes for the runners-up. Our local florist donated gorgeous bouquets for the runners-up, and our new furniture store contributed an etched mirror with a verse which made it perfect for Miss Congeniality. Following the Chamber's wishes to encourage shopping at home in Elk Point, the prizes were purchased locally.

Many Elk Point and district residents were on hand for the pageant Saturday afternoon, and shared in the proud moment when our local young lady, Angel Ference, was crowned Miss Lakeland.

Thank you to all of those who contributed so willingly, and a special thank you to the dedicated lady who took time from her busy schedule to collect the contributions and help with selection and delivery of the prizes. Your efforts are very much appreciated.

And, to Miss Lakeland, our very own Miss Lakeland, CONGRATULATIONS, Angel! We knew you could do it!

Warm fuzzies

In 4-H language, a compliment or a comment that makes you feel good is called a 'warm fuzzy.'

In this caterpillar-chewed world, amidst news reports of revolts and uprisings, and pessimistic weather reporters who keep ordering rain for weekends, 'warm fuzzies' are few and far between.

That's why it was great to see in the Edmonton Journal's list of upcoming events, three special days this week. Of course, you all know that Sunday is Father's Day (and hopefully you also know that Dad would rather have a few hours of your company than another tie and socks set). But, did you know that tomorrow is A Friend In Need Is A Friend Indeed Day? Or that Friday is World Sauntering Day?

What a great opportunity, tomorrow, to take time to help out a friend—whether that friend needs an errand run, someone to babysit so she or he can get out of the house for a while, or just someone to talk to. It's a good day to visit a shut-in, or to offer to trim the lawn edges for someone who has trouble bending over, or take a friend for a cup of coffee and a chat.

And Friday...let's take the time to slow down a little, and SAUNT. Forget rushing hither and yon for one day, and take things just a bit easier. Take time to smell the flowers, to watch children laughing at play, to really see this beautiful world around us (even if it is a little bit nibbled around the edges).

Have a good week, everyone!

Not Too Wild...

We still have some wildlife -- but they are much tamer now.

Alberta Trails

Our mechanized age

By Irene Magnusson

A few words on a page can start one thinking, perhaps of a time long gone. If we follow it along, we may come to pondering the changes that have taken place over the years. In my case, it was picking up the brochure put out by the Elk Point Historical Society a few years ago, regarding the Fort George, and Buckingham House fur trading sites, down by the North Saskatchewan River, east of Elk Point.

The life span of the two forts was brief, a mere eight years, but it was an important time in the development of what came to be our beloved province of Alberta.

Then I am thinking of how different our lives are today, as compared to that brief two-hundred-years-ago time, brief, that is, in the over-all years of human civilization.

Without going all out into the depths of the past, the cave-men era, or when mankind rose from the sea, just think of the changes which have taken place in everyday life in these past two centuries. If one can let their imagination run loose, together with the multitude of historical writings we have to dip into, it's possible to picture somewhat what life was like then, as compared to how we live today. I will admit many - if not most - of these changes have taken place in the last half century or less.

Firstly, transportation. Those fur buyers probably came in by river boat, or barge or raft, powered by the muscles of their arms and back, the sweat of their brows and assistance from current and wind - IF they were going in the direction which suited the whims of nature, otherwise, they had to fight those forces, too. If they came overland, it would have been on foot, or horseback - no smoothly purring automobile, over paved roads. No choo-choo train chugging along, as finally became available to our pioneering parents, already obsolete. Certainly, no silver-winged planes slicing the clouds, no droning helicopter settling down on an open patch, leaving humans, supplies, food - on a few hours notice, answering words sent over a buried telephone line, or invisibly, with no wires at all, through the depths of space by radio beams.

Clothing. From other lands, they would have brought woolsens, perhaps cottons, then, harvested from our own plains and forests, furs and leathers to cover their bodies and shoe their feet. Plenty of clothing would be needed, too, in summer to protect from the ravaging mosquitoes and other insects we hardly know exist now, and in winter from the bitter cold, both when outdoors and indoors, since insulation was not the big thing in those days and it was also colder, as we know from the records, than it is now.

What would those men do for an evening's entertainment? Poor things, they had no television, no VCR's, no movies. There were no video games, no pool halls, no Bingo games. I suspect musical instruments were confined to very light weight stuff, a jew's-harp, perhaps a mouth organ, deer rib bones, home-made drums. Dancing would have been on hard-packed earth, or rough-sawn planks, in their moccasins, if they danced at all.

Fuel was the forest around them, cut with axe or bucksaw, artificial light from candles, or a pot of oil with a wick stuck in it. I can't believe there was much reading going on, partly from lack of books, partly from lack of light, and time, and partly because some of them had never learned to read.

I suppose booze was available to them, as that seems to have been discovered before fire was, and man has always figured out a way to concoct the mind-altering fluid, from whatever material was to hand, in any number of ingenious fashions, relying on it to escape the realities of life.

I envy the early explorers in one respect. They were privileged to view the unblemished beauty of forests, flowers, and wildlife, as it was meant to be, abundant, colorful and varied. I suspect - from the small remaining evidence - that those hills along the river would be a flame of orange lilies, as far as the eye could see, in summer, that crocuses dotted the prairie wool of the sidehills until they looked like soft purple blankets, that saskatoons and blueberries, wild raspberries, cranberries, both short and tall, and lucious wild strawberries were abundant in season - and unpolluted.

Theirs the pleasure of casting their home-made lure into our lovely blue lakes, hooking - or spearing - out fish of a size to make our present-day minnows look like fresh-stocked fingerlings.

It's amazing to think it only took eight years for those traders to come in, and, through the eager cooperation of the Natives inhabiting the area, to wipe out the wildlife, the fur-bearing animals and the vast buffalo herds, to a state where trade in the area was no longer worth their while. Think how many beavers were snared, trapped, shot and skinned out, how many foxes and coyotes, martens, mink, lynx, weasels and muskrats were slaughtered for their hides, and exchanged for guns, knives, bullets, perhaps food, but mostly for junk. Junk the Natives didn't need, just as we spend our lives putting out money for junk we don't need either. I imagine a lot of those hides and furs were exchanged for booze, which is the worst junk of all.

So now we are at a stage where we are going to put out a lot of energy, brains, and certainly money, to reconstruct in our minds, if not in real life, how those fur traders came, lived, did their thing, and moved on to lush pastures. It is not our plan, at this late date in time, to worry about the morality of their actions, or the good or evil they did to our present day times. We are still curious to know the 'how' of their brief span in history, and, for myself, to marvel at the changes that have occurred since they set their feet upon our shores.

Would the early settlers have come, had they not removed many of the wild animals in the area? Would there have been room for the settlers, if the fur traders hadn't impoverished the Natives, so they had to either move on, or starve? Could we have established fields of grain and herds of cattle, if the buffalo still roamed - even in the smallest numbers?

So, as we walk or jog to get the exercise we need, because we can't find enough strenuous work to do, no wood to cut, no water to draw, few fish to catch, or partridges to hunt, we zip over our paved roads in shiny cars, listen to whatever is on the airwaves, or TV screens, eat our cornflakes and chips, wearing our 'plastic' clothes, are we really so much better off, with these two hundred years of 'progress' behind us?

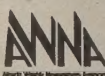

Two hundred years - only three average lifetimes - yet what great strides mankind has taken. Now, if we get pneumonia, we get a shot of antibiotics, then they died. Now, we have tougher diseases. At the flick of a switch, man can blow up the world. He still hasn't conquered the common cold - so I'd say there is yet much to be done. What will our world be like two hundred years from now?

Information day highlights

Representing Local Seniors...

Mabel Dumont, right, is a member of Elk Point Seniors Concerns Committee, and is also a consultant with the Alberta Council on Aging. At left is Marnie McCowan, Mistress of Ceremonies for Information Day.

Blood Pressure Clinic...

Elk Point AARNA members held a blood pressure clinic at Information Day. Here, Joanne Hutton takes a reading on Irene Millar, while Genevieve Smyr checks the stock of booklets and display.

Home Care...

Elk Point Home Care representative Helen Skolarchuk explains the work performed by Home Care to Information Day visitors.

A well attended Information Day was the highlight of Senior Citizens' Week in Elk Point, with an excellent crowd braving Friday's downpour to fill the Elks Hall for the afternoon event.

Mayor Bruce Kleeberger was on hand to declare Information Day officially open, and presented a framed scroll honoring Elk Point seniors to the Pioneer Circle.

Elk Point's Seniors Concerns Committee members, Sid Holthe,

Mabel Dumont, Marnie McCowan, Violet McFadyen and Irene Magnusson were introduced. This group spent many hours to coordinate the very successful event.

Guest speakers included Mabel Dumont, representing the Alberta Council on Aging, Mary Englemann of the Senior Citizens' Secretariat, Dennis Moreau of New Horizons, and Lois Sheplaw of the North East Alberta Health Unit. Each had words of advice and encouragement for the seniors, and spoke on the ways each of these groups can ease and enhance the lives of older people.

Thirty informational displays, ranging from local churches to Meals on Wheels, from the Seniors Exercise Program to Elk Point Public Library, were visited by the seniors, as they found out more about the programs and services which are available for their use.

Guest Speaker...

Mary Englemann is Director of the Senior Citizens' Secretariat.

Seniors Are Valuable Contributors...

This display, presided over by Ivy Dunlap and Grace Barwick, showed the fine work by local seniors which are exhibited annually at the Elk Point Fair.

Contributing To Seniors' Summer...

Reports and plans for auxiliary

By Irene Magnusson

Reports of the results of the very successful Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary Bazaar, Sale and Tea, held on Hospital Day, May 12, were read by secretary Elsie Orschuk to intent members of the Auxiliary at their May 22 meeting Monday night. Those present were quite pleased with the results, with a few suggestions offered for future events.

In the absence of President Gloria Lecopoy, Vice-president Diana Anderson chaired the meeting. Nine members were present. A complete financial picture was read, including the results of the Tea, and it was noted that $51 was realized from the sale of cleaning rags, prepared by the group at a recent working meeting.

A vote of thanks was extended by the group to Leona Moneta, who had donated the lace tablecloth, and to Margaret Lyttle, who, once again, had been responsible for the lovely hooked rug, raffled over the spring, and won on the draw by Agnes Moroziuk, the Auxiliary's secretary.

Canteen affairs were reported by Violet McFadyen, all going well. With assistance, she has rearranged the stock in the canteen, filling the shelves to better effect, and making room for the few remaining articles offered for sale in the bazaar, but not sold, which were then donated to the canteen stocks.

The Seniors' Information Day, June 9, to be observed during Senior Citizens' Week, was discussed. The group have been invited to attend and present a table. A discussion of what to present and how to best present it followed, with enthusiasm growing, as the group realized they had much to show and be proud of.

In correspondence, an announcement that the Annual Convention is set for November, in Edmonton, not too soon to start planning. Also, the Alberta Hospital Association will host a seminar on "Wellness for Women" in October, with plenty of information offered. Other literature received was handed around. Mrs. Anderson, on behalf of the Elk Point PTA, suggested a display of available grants be made to let students know what is available; this to include the $100 grant offered by the Auxiliary to any student going into the Nursing profession. This is available in any year, but has only been applied for once, leaving the possibility that its existence is not well known.

Other gifts received by the Auxiliary or the Hospital were mentioned: the $50 cash from the U.G.G., and the lovely painting of the "old" Hospital created, framed and donated by Pearl Bespalko, a former employee, who spent years in Central Supply and the O.R., before retirement a few years ago. The nostalgic and beautifully executed oil painting hangs in the Hospital waiting room.

A serious discussion of the methods and merits of collecting store coupons and UPC bars, for the purpose of fund raising for the group ensued, Adella Jennison being in charge of this project. Any success in this adds to the Auxiliary's coffers, which in turn adds to the amount of assistance the Auxiliary can offer the patients in our hospital.

And, after all, that is what the Auxiliary is all about.

The next meeting will be June 26, 1989.

Artistic Memento...

Former employee Pearl Bespalko, stands beside her oil painting of the "Old" Hospital, this lovely memento donated to the Elk Point Hospital, and may be seen in the waiting room there.

The 1989 Budget

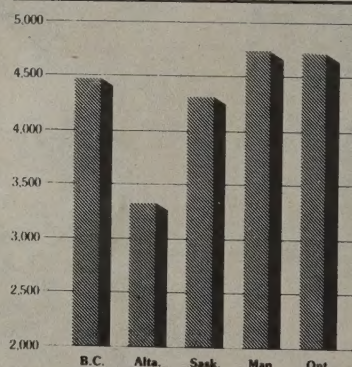

The 1989 budget was presented by the Provincial Treasurer to the Legislature on June 8. This budget is committed to:

- A STRONG ALBERTA ECONOMY
- RESPONSIBLE FISCAL MANAGEMENT
- MEETING ALBERTANS PRIORITIES

Budget Highlights

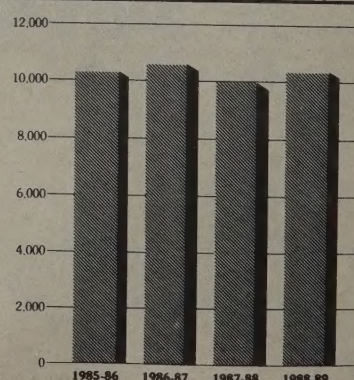

- ★ Our economy is strong. Alberta led the country in economic growth in 1988 and will stay ahead of the national average again in 1989.
- ★ Education is a critical investment for the future. In 1989-90 total spending on education reaches $2.7 billion.
- ★ Alberta has one of the best expenditure management records in the country and is determined to achieve a balanced budget.
- ★ No increases in personal or corporate income taxes. Albertans continue to have the lowest rates of taxation and no sales tax.
- ★ Diversification is working. Over $10 billion will be invested in forestry, petrochemicals and energy in the next six years. More Albertans were employed in 1988 than in any other year.
- ★ Environmental protection, preventative health and choices for seniors are clear priorities.
- ★ Albertans receive the highest level of health services in Canada. Senior citizens and low-income Albertans are protected from a small premium increase.
- ★ Support for transportation infrastructure and farmers and ranchers increases. Albertans are protected from high federal interest rates.

Comparison of Provincial Taxes Payable*

* Family of four, gross income of $40,000. Includes provincial personal income tax, sales tax, health care insurance premiums, tobacco tax, fuel tax, and hotel room tax. Other provinces as of May 26, 1989.

Program Expenditure* (millions of dollars)

* General Revenue Fund

What's news at the library?

Summer Reading Program-Coordinator Daphne Schnurer and "Friend"?? will be visiting the Elk Point Elementary School on Wednesday, June 21. So kids be on the look out for my strange and amazing friend. Please call the library to pre-register for this years Summer Reading Program.

Through pouring rain the library's "Travelling Tales" preschool Storytime still managed to visit the Elk Point Hospital this past Friday. Children and residents took part in stories, songs "Old MacDonalds Farm" and the puppet story "The Three Little Pigs". We also were treated to cookies and juice which the children enjoyed immensely. Thanks to residents and staff for making our visit possible. We hope to visit again soon. Parents, just a reminder that the Travelling Tales will be going to Buckingham House June 16th. Come out and join in this exciting adventure of another storytime.

Settlement members vote June 20

Classified Ads

This is the sixth and final article in a series on the Alberta-Settlements Accord - the proposed agreement between the Metis Settlements and the Alberta Government on Settlement land, government, and finance. The Accord is subject to the approval of the Settlement members in a referendum to be held on June 20. This article summarizes the Accord and the Settlements lawsuit for the proceeds from the mines and minerals.

On June 20, Metis Settlement members have the opportunity to vote on the Alberta-Settlements Accord. The Accord is a negotiated agreement with the Province that includes constitutionally protected Metis land, a form of local self-government, and secure finances over the long term. If approved by the Settlements, the Accord would resolve the lawsuit the Settlements and the Province have over the proceeds from the sale of mines and minerals. At the Referendum on June 20, Settlement members decide whether they want the land, government and finance package in the Accord or if they wish to continue with the current Metis Betterment Act and the lawsuit.

Previous articles in this series have dealt with various parts of the Accord. This article summarizes the Accord as a whole and focusses on the choice facing Settlement members in the referendum. We start with the problems the Accord is designed to solve. Under the current Metis Betterment Act passed in 1938, all legal power lies in the hands of the Minister. Under the Metis Betterment Act, the Minister claims the authority to set up and close down Settlements, to administer the Settlements, and to make rules on membership, land allocation, hunting, fishing, etc. Over the past decade, much of this authority has passed in practice to the Settlement Councils. This has created problems in terms of Councils having authority in practice but without clear legal power or guidelines in the form of controls or restrictions on that authority.

Until now, it has not been possible to change the legal system to recognize Council authority and put controls on that authority. The Settlements and the Province agreed that as long as their lawsuit continues, the Metis Betterment Act would not be changed until both sides agreed to the change. The lawsuit was first brought in 1968 and is still in the stages preliminary to the actual trial. Essentially, the lawsuit is a dispute over the proceeds paid to the government from the sale of oil and gas from under the Settlements. This is the royalty payments as well as the money from the sale of the rights to explore the subsurface. The fundamental issue is the interpretation of a 1951 regulation that the Settlements argue that requires the Province to put these monies in the Settlements Trust Fund. The Province recently produced figures showing that the value of these monies since the Settlements were set up totals $120 million (or $140 million if government incentives are not excluded) plus the interest that money would have earned.

The Alberta-Settlements Accord offers a resolution to the 21 year old lawsuit and an end to the unclear legal system under the Metis Betterment Act. The Accord is essentially land related - providing a framework for protecting it, governing it, and building on it.

The most important component of the Alberta-Settlements Accord is the land. It includes the Province transferring the title to the land (Bill 65) and the protection of the land in the Canadian Constitution (Amendment to the Alberta Act). The land title is held by the General Council on behalf of the members but the control over land allocation rests with the Settlements and the Minister agree on new rules to replace them. Also, all current land holdings are protected by the new Act as long as the land is being used.

The local government part of the Accord (Bill 64) sets up a system of government based on the current practice. The Settlements are the basic local government unit within the provincial system. One difference from the current Act is that under the Accord the Minister gives up his power to make rules on the trust fund, on hunting, on fishing and other areas. In these areas, the Settlements make their own rules together as General Council and the Minister has a 90 day period in which he can veto (or in some cases approve) the new rules. In other areas such as making new rules for Settlement land and membership, the Minister keeps his authority to make regulations but they must first be proposed in writing by the Settlements. While the Settlements are working out new rules on these issues, the current rules will continue to apply.

The other important difference between the proposed Bill 64 and the current system is that there are specific legal controls on Council by the Settlement members. Council makes its important decisions, including budget and spending decisions, in the form of by-laws. Under Bill 64, the people must approve these decisions at General Meetings before Council can pass them.

The finance part of the Accord deals with both short and long term finance arrangements between the Settlements and the Province. For the first 7 years of the finance agreement, the Province transfers to the Settlements $25 million per year - this replaces the $7 million per year that the Settlements currently receive. This is funding to build up the communities - for housing, economic development projects, etc. For the 10 years following, the Province will transfer $10 million to the Settlements and will match funds contributed by the Settlements. Also during this period, the Settlements will be eligible for municipal grants similar to ID's, MD's, etc. in the Province. This is funding to ensure that the Settlements continue to develop and maintain the facilities they build over the first 7 years.

For post 17 year finances, the Settlements will have a future fund. From an initial contribution by the Province over the first 7 years, this fund should grow to at least $140 million over the 17 years period. With the interest from that fund and continuing municipal grants, the Settlements can continue to meet their needs into the future.

Settlement members vote on the Accord on June 20. The choice is clear: the people can stay with the current Metis Betterment Act and the lawsuit for $120 million plus interest or they can opt for the Alberta-Settlements Accord on Settlement land, government, and finance.

The Proposed Agreement Between the Metis Settlements and the Province of Alberta

The proposed agreement with the Province of Alberta would include:

- constitutional protection of Settlement land and joint management of subsurface resource development
- the creation of a unique form of Metis self-government
- secure funding to develop the Settlements now and in the future.

To allow all Settlement members a vote on the proposed agreement a referendum will be held on June 20, 1989 with voting taking place on all eight Settlements.

Exhibit the place to be this weekend

The place to be this coming weekend will be at St. Paul's Exhibit '89. The three-day show opens Friday afternoon and promises to be great entertainment for the entire family.

The trade fair provides goods and services at the same time, area consumers have a chance to do a little window shopping, see some of the new products on the market and learn what services are available to them.

With more than 70 exhibitors on hand a wide variety of goods and services will be displayed.

Another feature attraction will be the stock dog competition which runs Friday and Saturday at 1 p.m. This is something new for St. Paul and should prove to be an exciting event for spectators.

A safety show in the curling rink should also be of interest to many. Local specialists will demonstrate different types of equipment used for rescue and the promotion of the safety. Representatives of the fire department will be demonstrating the jaws of life.

Of course, the midway will also be in town providing some hair-raising rides for the young and old alike.

Also look for Alberta Power's 'live wire' display, Petro Canada's huge tank truck, the Kinsmen and Kinette dunk tank and game wheels, and if the weather mood to kick up a balloon.

Exhibit '89 opens Friday at 3 p.m. through to 9 p.m. Saturday things get underway at noon and the fun continues right through until 9 p.m. Sunday the show again opens at noon but will close its doors at 5 p.m. to give exhibitors a chance to clean and pack up before heading home for another year.

Admission for adults is $2, children 6 to 12 is $1, with free admission for those under 6.

So, there you have it. There's all kinds of things to do and see this weekend at Exhibit '89. Plan to be there. You won't be sorry.

Farley's Forecast
Welcome to the first edition of the Journal Preview. We couldn't have started on a nicer day. Under sunny skies today, the temperature will reach a late afternoon high of 20 C dropping down to 8 C tonight. Night winds from the southwest will bring little chance of precipitation today.

What's happening in your community

The area appears to be active with activity this week, with numerous special events planned in local communities. Be sure to see the St. Paul Journal for complete coverage of the many of the events listed below.

St. Paul Seniors' Week
It's National Seniors' Week and in St. Paul a number of activities have been planned to give some deserving recognition to our seniors. On June 6, a craft display will take place at Heritage House Phase 1 with a tea and coffee social to follow at 1:30 p.m.

On June 8, all seniors are welcome to attend a barbecue at the St. Paul Catholic Centre behind the Senior Citizens' Centre. On June 9, the St. Paul Association for the Handicapped will host a tea for the St. Paul Senior Citizens' social at the St. Paul Centre from 2 to 4 p.m. The Sunshine Choir will entertain.

Saturday, June 10, is residents' day. On June 11, residents are invited to a social at the St. Paul Centre from 2 to 4 p.m. and the public is invited.
